Thursday, August 27, 2020

11:15 AM

CRE Coach, CCIM Instructor and Best-Selling Author Blaine Strickland will present his ideas on how to move forward from today's most challenging times.

In this 30-minute presentation, Blaine will offer powerful action items related to:

- Emerging from the downturn with a more compelling value proposition
- How to engage clients and prospects even though you can't meet them in person
- How to set the stage for increased market penetration on the far side of the quarantine

"The chaos associated with the onset of the coronavirus has been confusing, painful and worrisome. Once you recover from the shock, there are many ways to take advantage of this situation. If you are ready to shed the fear and start preparing for your return to action, this webinar is for you," said Strickland.

Blaine Strickland is a CCIM Instructor and two-time best-selling author. You will find his two books, Thrive and Adapt (on Amazon). You don't want to miss this limited-attendance event. Register on our website today.
